The City of Ellensburg invites you to a:

Community Meeting

The City is currently working on two projects that will help guide future new development in the City of Ellensburg:

- a Land Development Code Update designed to reorganize the Codes into a more user-friendly format and to update the Codes in order to implement the goals and policies in the City’s Comprehensive Plan; and,

- an Energy Efficiency and Conservation Strategy that will provide policy direction and strategy for future City activities designed to improve energy efficiency and energy conservation in the community.

In addition, the Non-Motorized Transportation Committee has completed its recommendations for implementing the City’s Non-Motorized Transportation Plan, including proposed changes to street layout and design.

WHEN?

Monday January 31, 2011 from 5 PM to 8 PM

(light food and beverages will be available)

WHERE?

Hal Holmes Center, 201 North Ruby Street

WHY?

To update the Community on these projects and recommendations, and to present for Community review and discussion the preliminary code and strategy concepts currently being developed.
